

Application Studio

➔ Use Infor PM Application Studio to perform key processes more efficiently and deliver important business intelligence whenever and wherever it's needed in your organization.

Do business better.

Even with sophisticated IT infrastructures, many organizations still encounter problems finding the information they need, when and how they need it. To overcome these obstacles, companies need a robust performance management (PM) solution that will access, filter, analyze, and publish information throughout their organizations—anytime, anywhere. The solution they choose must be able to merge data from multiple sources into a single report, helping them quickly transform raw data into valuable information.

Leverage experience.

For more than 30 years, Infor™ PM solutions have helped leading companies optimize the effectiveness of their business processes. A key component of Infor PM 10, Infor PM Application Studio allows companies to gather information and share knowledge throughout the organization. It accomplishes this by accessing data from leading online analytical processing (OLAP) and relational sources or other semi-structured data.

Because Application Studio quickly integrates information via standard interfaces like OLE DB, ODBC, and others, you can simultaneously present information from different data sources in a single report. All reports are instantly web-ready and can be deployed using standard web browsers. Application Studio is integrated with other Infor PM 10 applications and works with Infor Open SOA (service-oriented architecture) to provide business intelligence capabilities atop other Infor systems.

INFOR™

Get business specific.

Companies like yours rely on Infor PM Application Studio for business intelligence gained by accessing, filtering, and analyzing information throughout their organizations, then publishing the information into a single report.

Essential background information. Evaluating business processes takes more than numbers. Essential background information on customers, contacts, and more is often stored in text files, spreadsheets, emails, web sites, or other semi-structured files. Application Studio allows you to supplement your reports with links to these relevant documents. Since the solution adapts to your company's structures, you can immediately begin to tap your current data sources.

Advanced technology in a familiar environment. Application Studio lets you enjoy high-level functions in a comfortable spreadsheet environment; you can leverage your spreadsheet skills without the limitations of individual spreadsheets. Wizards and tip assistants offer additional support and ensure that you can quickly take advantage of all the solution's functions. Plus, innovative "hyperblocks" ensure that changes in your structures will automatically be updated in your report.

Access rights and user profiles. Detailed access rights and user profiles let you view only the information you need for your tasks. A list concept allows you to prepare and filter raw data into specialized information, and ad hoc reporting ensures you can easily create analyses and reports—much like with a pivot table. Plus, you can publish reports quickly and easily on your corporate intranet and the web. Data is exported into pure HTML, so client-side work is minimal.

See results now.

Infor PM Application Studio lets you quickly gather information and share knowledge throughout your organization. This solution can help your company reap rapid results and quick ROI through detailed access rights and user profiles, enhanced functions in a spreadsheet environment, and the ability to link multisource data in a single report.
