

Successful companies use Infor PM Financial Reporting to gain insight, provide transparency, and ensure compliance.

FINANCIAL REPORTING

DO BUSINESS BETTER.

Today's companies face many performance management (PM) challenges when they close their books and prepare statutory and management reports. Compressed reporting cycles, ever-changing and increasing regulations, and demands for heightened financial transparency force finance professionals to spend more time collecting, consolidating, verifying, and sharing data—leaving them with less time to spend on strategic activities like analysis. Successful companies, however, leverage technology so they can meet regulatory requirements with confidence, and add value to their business.

LEVERAGE EXPERIENCE.

Infor™ PM solutions have helped companies around the globe streamline and improve the effectiveness of their business processes for more than 30 years. Infor PM Financial Reporting—a core component of Infor PM 10—provides companies like yours with sophisticated yet user-friendly capabilities that allow you to consolidate global financial and nonfinancial information quickly—even when your operating units have disparate general ledger systems, charts of accounts, and transaction systems. You can automatically generate, format, and distribute book-quality financial statements and management reports that meet regulatory requirements as well as stakeholder needs.

Plus, built-in financial intelligence helps you confidently address local and global reporting regulations, including International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), International Accounting Standards (IAS), Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP), and the Sarbanes-Oxley Act.

GET BUSINESS SPECIFIC.

Infor PM Financial Reporting can help you simplify and speed up the production and distribution of reports; gain insight and greater transparency; and meet compliance mandates.

Gain insight . Not only does Financial Reporting use “live” data to create financial and management reports, it also presents the information in the format most useful—and understandable—to you: dashboard, scorecard, spreadsheet, color-coded table, bubble chart, pie chart, bar chart, or line graph. Multiple perspectives such as region, product line, and product profitability help you analyze your business. Plus, you can drill down from summary numbers into transactional details. When performance deviates from established targets, you'll receive early warning alerts via email.

Support compliance . Comply with GAAP and other reporting standards by relying on built-in financial intelligence. Financial Reporting automatically handles multicurrency conversions, intercompany eliminations, allocations, minority interests, recurring adjustments, and exchange gains and losses. It also provides full audit trails on all consolidation adjustments, allowing review of changes and providing the transparency needed to satisfy internal and external auditors.

Ensure data integrity . Financial Reporting reduces total cycle time by automating company-wide financial data collection and validation. All data is consolidated and validated in a central, secure system, leading to noncontradictory reports and a single, true snapshot of the business—which is not easily attained using spreadsheets. The solution also lets you produce variance reports that compare actual performance against budgets and forecasts.

SEE RESULTS NOW.

Incorporating speed, accuracy, reliability, transparency, and insight, Infor PM Financial Reporting not only improves your reporting process, it also enhances the overall efficiency and effectiveness of your business. With time-saving features like pre-built report templates and automated report delivery, you gain more time to analyze and run your business.
